WWC Programme Director Joins the World Bank

Posted on July 2, 2008 by dietvorst | Leave a comment

Paul van Hofwegen, who for the past 5 years was a Programme Director at the World Water Council (WC), is joining the World Bank in Jakarta, Indonesia. He will be working on development and implementation of water programmes that involve different Ministries, Local Authorities and beneficiary groups in Indonesia.

Read more: WWC, 23 Jun 2008

Share this: Email Facebook Twitter Google

Like this: Like Loading...

This entry was posted in Water resources management and tagged Indonesia, World Bank, World Water Council. Bookmark the permalink.